TRUST, TEAMWORK AND KNOWLEDGE

When you engage with TruSec's vCISO program, you gain access to a team of thought leaders in the areas of information security compliance, regulations and governance, who will assist in developing, managing and supporting your institution's information security program. Our consultants not only hold advanced security, management and technical certifications, but have successfully assisted hundreds of organizations (from startups to multibillion international entities) in enhancing their information security programs and attaining higher levels of assurance and compliance. Only TruSec can deliver the professionalism, business acumen and the years of experience that provide the most value to your organization.

Our approach to your Virtual CISO needs is simple, yet unconventional. Instead of simply assigning a part-time consultant to your institution, you will gain access to TruSec's entire team of experts in various disciplines whose collaborative approach enables greater scrutinization of your deliverables.

TruSec's vCISO program is a costeffective tool to help you analyze gaps in your security program, support your efforts to obtain board approval and assist you in every step to evaluate, select and implement the information security and technology strategies that align with your business strategy.
